The report throws the light on the day celebrations in past five years i.e. during 2018-2023.

❖ Independence Week

The Independence Day of India, which is celebrated religiously throughout the Country on the 15th of August every year, holds tremendous ground in the list of national days, since it reminds every Indian about the dawn of a new beginning, the beginning of an era of deliverance from the clutches of British colonialism of more than 200 years. It was on 15th August 1947 that India was declared independent from British colonialism, and the reins of control were handed over to the leaders of the Country. India's gaining of independence was a tryst with destiny, as the struggle for freedom was a long and tiresome one, witnessing the sacrifices of many freedom fighters, who laid down their lives on the line.

In the light of sensitizing constitutional values and responsibilities of citizens, along with the flag hoisting Institute celebrated Independence Week through various activities- Poem Writing and Recitation Competition, Extempore, Brain teaser, Quiz Competition, Video Making Competition, Blood Donation Camp, Ek Sanvaad: Interview of Social Activists along with flag hoisting in the hands of distinguished personalities.

Thereafter 26th of January was decreed a national holiday and was recognized as the Republic Day of India. The Constitution gave the citizens of India the power to choose their own government and paved the way for democracy. Dr. Rajendra Prasad took oath as the first President of India at the Durbar Hall in Government House and this was followed by the Presidential drive along a five-mile route to the Irwin Stadium, where he unfurled the National Flag.

❖ National Coming Out Day

National Coming Out Day is an annual celebration which takes place on 11th October every year. It was first celebrated on the one-year anniversary of the National March on Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights – a date chosen to honor the bravery of LGBTQ+ individuals who decide to come out and live openly. Although it started off as an American awareness day, the meaning of National Coming Out Day is still highly relevant to LGBTQ+ communities across the world today. Coming out is a unique experience for each LGBTQ+ person. It's not a one-time event; many LGBTQ+ individuals who come out to their closest friends and family may later come out at work or school, to their extended family, or to casual acquaintances. For some, coming out is no longer a big deal – it can be a simple matter of correcting someone's assumptions about you, or introducing your partner. For others, coming out is still a huge challenge. The very real fear of facing discrimination, bullying, or judgement can cause LGBTQ+ people to stay 'in the closet', struggling with anxiety while they strive to be themselves.

Equal Opportunities Cell of our institution has started celebrating this day. Cell has arranged programs for creating awareness and sensitizing the society regarding rights, socio-legal challenges/ issues of LGBTQ+ community. Students of the college have participated in Pride Parade to create awareness in society.

❖ World Braille Day

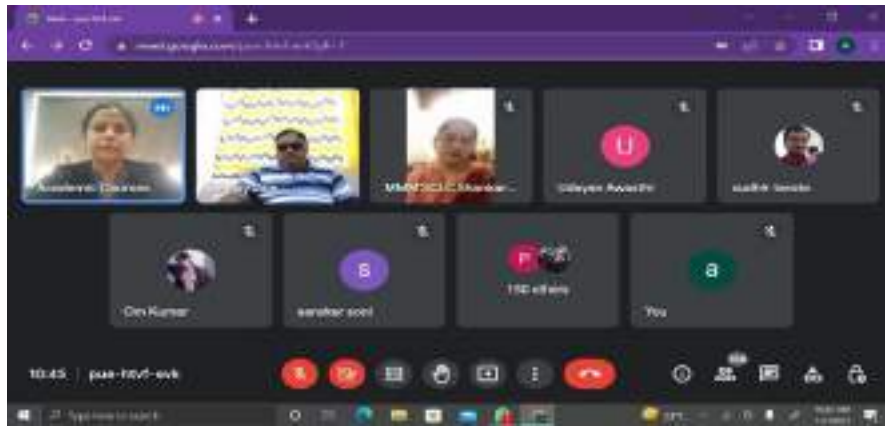

Eye conditions are remarkably common. The World Health Organization estimates that globally, at least 1 billion people have a near or distance vision impairment that could have been prevented or has yet to be addressed. Persons with vision impairment are more likely than those without to experience higher rates of poverty and disadvantage. Not meeting their needs, or fulfilling their rights, has wide-reaching consequences: vision loss often represents a lifetime of inequality, poorer health, and barriers to education and employment.

The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, adopted in 2006, has advanced the rights and well-being of persons with disabilities. The Convention considers Braille essential for education, freedom of expression and opinion, access to information and social inclusion. The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, adopted in 2015, further pledges that no one will be left behind in the aim to ensure that all human beings can enjoy prosperous and fulfilling lives. In November 2018 (Resolution A/RES/73/161), the General Assembly decided to proclaim 4 January as World Braille Day, recognizing that the full realization of human rights and fundamental freedoms relies on an inclusive written promotion.

On the occasion of World Braille Day, college has organized a Webinar on 'Right to Reasonable Accommodation and Accessibility for Persons with Disabilities in the Domain of Education' with the objective to help sensitizing students over the accessibility of the disabled, particularly in India and the challenges faced by them, in their day-to-day life.

If effectively supported during the adolescent years, girls have the potential to change the world – both as the empowered girls of today and as tomorrow’s workers, mothers, entrepreneurs, mentors, household heads, and political leaders. An investment in realizing the power of adolescent girls upholds their rights today and promises a more equitable and prosperous future, one in which half of humanity is an equal partner in solving the problems of climate change, political conflict, economic growth, disease prevention, and global sustainability.

❖ World Environment Day

The year 1972 marked a turning point in the development of international environmental politics: the first major conference on environmental issues, convened under the auspices of the United Nations, was held from June 5-16 in Stockholm (Sweden). Known as the Conference on the Human Environment, or the Stockholm Conference, its goal was to forge a basic common outlook on how to address the challenge of preserving and enhancing the human environment. Later that year, on 15 December, the General Assembly adopted a resolution (A/RES/2994 (XXVII)) designating June 5 as World Environment Day and urging “Governments and the organizations in the United Nations system to undertake on that day every year world-wide activities reaffirming their concern for the preservation and enhancement of the environment, with a view to deepening environmental awareness and to pursuing the determination expressed at the Conference.” The date coincides with the first day of the landmark Conference.

Students of our college have celebrated World Environment Day by having tree plantation drive to spread awareness about the threat to the environment due to rising pollution levels and climate change.

❖ World Mental Health Day

Mental health is a state of mental well-being that enables people to cope with the stresses of life, realize their abilities, learn well and work well, and contribute to their community. It is an integral component of health and well-being that underpins our individual and collective abilities to make decisions, build relationships and shape the world we live in. Mental health is a basic human right. And it is crucial to personal, community and socio-economic development. Mental health is more than the absence of mental disorders. It exists on a complex continuum, which is experienced differently from one person to the next, with varying degrees of difficulty and distress and potentially very different social and clinical outcomes. The overall objective of World Mental Health Day is to raise awareness of mental health issues around the world and to mobilize efforts in support of mental health. The Day provides an opportunity for all stakeholders working on mental health issues to talk about their work, and what more needs to be done to make mental health care a reality for people worldwide.

College has celebrated this day by arranging the One Day Workshop (Online) on 'Developing Positive Attitude towards Personal Development'. Also, college has a MoU with Schizophrenia Awareness Association (SAA) for creating awareness among the public at large.

❖ Death Anniversary of Shankarrao Chavan

Our institute is named after Shri. Shankarrao Chavan who was Former Home Minister of India, Former Finance Minister of India, and Former Chief Minister of Maharashtra. Based on the strength of his qualities and thirst for social development, he was honoured the Chief Ministership of Maharashtra twice, and gradually took a leap to become the Home Minister and Finance Minister of India. He was instrumental in activating the water movement in the Marathwada region of Maharashtra. He was an insightful leader with profound wisdom and high moral values, who contributed immensely in building Maharashtra as a progressive State. His fondness for education and a futuristic approach for the welfare of masses led to the establishment of 'Marathwada Mitra Mandal,' which presently has a diversified group of educational institutions in Pune city and suburbs of Pune. More than 12,000 students are pursuing their degrees in the institutions run by the Trust in four independent Campuses. In order to honour and inculcate his values, Shankarrao Chavan Law College was established in the year 2003, which is now a premier law school earning many laurels and accolades in the academic spars at national and international level.

To cherish his memories, we arrange the following programs every year.
