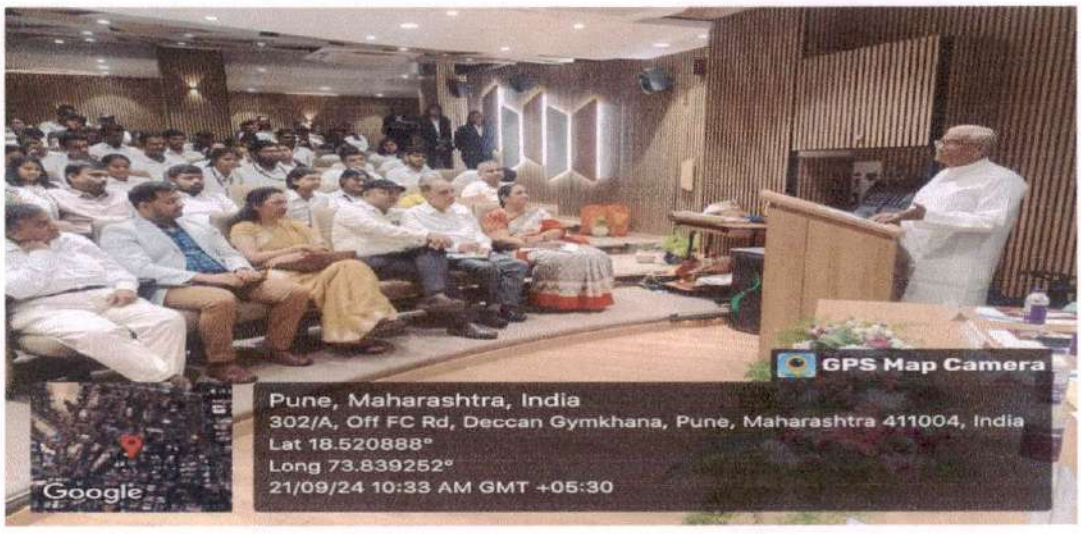
Hon'ble Justice R.C. Chavan emphasised on what were the conditions of drafting the Indian Penal Code at that time which was to penalise the accused and offenders which was the need at that time. Lord Macaulay was the Chairman of the first Law Commission of India which was assigned with the task of drafting laws for British India.



Hon'ble Justice R.C. Chavan, Former Judge, High Court of Bombay, Mumbai while addressing the audience

M.M.S. Shankarrao Chavan Law College * Pune-4 *

Justice R.C. Chavan highlighted the fact that Macaulay was amused by the integrity of the Indians who were family-oriented, honest and humble and Struggling for independence which happened in the Great Uprising of 1857 which Shutdown the East India Company and brought India under the direct rule of the British Crown. The main objective of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 was to Penalise i.e. to punish the offenders but now the main Objective of the Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) is to give Nyaya i.e. Justice to the People of India and there were many Provisions in the Old Criminal Laws which made no sense in Contemporary World and thereby had to be changed. "Mere Cosmetic changes are not ascertained to the problems," said Justice R.C. Chavan, changes are concerned at the national as well as International Level. So the main objective of the criminal laws was :

1. Protection of women
2. Admissibility of Digital Evidence, Electronic Evidence and Digital means
3. Decrease the time of trial and Provide Early Justice.

His Lordship thought that the duty of the Investigation Officers is not only to see the other side of the Investigation but also to convict the accused with credible evidence, prove the act beyond reasonable doubt and provide justice to the victims. He highlighted the incident wherein in his days an accused was convicted in 30 days if such a speedy trial could be done in those days then why not be done in the present time? Now technology is much more advanced than the time prior. Another important reason to repeal the laws was to remove the provisions of British Nobility like the Queen, Crown, etc. Some people say that new laws have given Police more power however that's for a Layman to say in fact the new criminal laws have cast certain barriers and procedures to be followed by the Police Officers to protect the rights of the people and ensure their liberty. His Lordship highlighted 3A i.e. Accountability, Authenticity and Accessibility providing Justice to Social Problems and solutions to the problems. Supreme Court is of the opinion that our justice system is nothing but crumbling. The English Adversarial System did not work in any of the colonies of the British and it did not work in the U.K. itself. Some changes have been brought about which were absent in old repealed laws. Justice R.C. Chavan thought that although CrPC and CPC are ancient vintage laws it is the Constitution that makes them new Remedial Weapons.

Earlier Code was focused on Criminal Procedure, now new laws focus on the Nagrik Suraksha i.e. Citizen's protection which makes it a People Centric Procedure Code. He believed that the problem begins with the Definition of Law, Because the definition doesn't work in the Practical aspect of law and a single definition cannot fit the whole law and then there are proviso clauses, exceptions etc. Therefore the Students and the lawyers are lost in the maze of law and maze of definition. Law is a concept which continuously keeps on Evolving. There's a saying that "Some law is better than no law" but some law which is foolishly implemented is bound to cause more harm to the society. Sage Apastamba believed that What is Dharma and Adharma is about what is right or wrong and it is extremely situational. You can't control the future with the past, therefore even today what is law and the rule of law is extremely Nubulus.

Senior advocate S.K. Jain took to the podium to address new criminal laws, Acknowledgement is necessary for the new laws, change is the only constant thing says he. In the U.S. 1990s the Telegraph Act was passed which gave rise to telephone tapping cases. John Perry Barlow's A 1996 Declaration of Independence of Cyberspace states that the internet is a virtual realm that is not subject to the authority of traditional governments. It is the technology that runs so fast and law tries to hold a grasp of it.

Senior Counsel Further states that was a detailed consultation process of more than 50 meetings over a period of four years with meetings with reputed law and enforcement agencies and Chief Justice of India, and Justice of the Supreme Court and High Court and consultations with more than 20 Nations, feedbacks were taken into consideration. Therefore we're in a society where change is very fast and consistent. And with Introduction to Artificial Intelligence, we tend to adapt to these changes. In New Cr.P.C. i.e. Bhartiya Nagrik Suraksha Sanhita Now Investigation Officers are required to produce digital and electronic evidence of the crime scene while presenting the case.

Later in the second session, Adv. Rhishikesh Ganu briefed us that 20 new offences have been added in the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS). For example, Abetment outside India for offence in India. Another new type of punishment has been added in the BNS i.e. Community Service and the definition of movable property has been updated "Movable property" includes property of every description, except land and things attached to the earth or permanently fastened to anything which is attached to the earth. Also, 19 provisions that existed in IPC have been deleted. The Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023. (BNSS) is an Act to consolidate and amend The law relating to Criminal Procedure and has Been given assent by the President of India on 25th December 2023. It shall come into force on 01/07/2024. The BNSS, contradicting the Hon'ble Supreme Court direction in Sunil Batra v. Delhi Administration and Prem Sankr Shukla v. Delhi Administration formally brings back the usage of handcuffs. While the Cr.PC mandates the medical examination of the accused in specific cases, including rape, carried out by a registered medical practitioner upon the request of a Sub-Inspector level police officer. Section 51 of the BNSS expands this authority to any police officer. Now any police officer can request for the medical examination of the accused. The BNSS now provides that the Magistrate May, after giving the accused a reasonable opportunity of being heard, for reasons to be recorded in writing, try in a summary way, all or any of the offences not punishable with Death or imprisonment for life or imprisonment For a term exceeding 3 years, provided that no Appeal shall lie against any such decision of a Magistrate (Section 283).

The next speaker was Special Public Prosecutor Adv. Shubhangi Deshmukh enlightened us regarding the new provisions of BNSS which require Investigating Officers to record videos and photographs of the crime scene in an app which has been developed specially for investigating officers. Prosecution further stated that there was a need for new laws as :

1. There was a need for speedy trials in sensitive cases
2. Renovating the Criminal Justice System

She further spoke that Sec. 124A IPC sedition was repealed & Sec. 103(2) Mob Lynching was introduced, the definition of child was provided, rights of transgender were recognized, Snatching as an offence was introduced as a separate offence earlier it came under the definition of Robbery. Sec. 106 Death by Negligence was added but it has been put on hold by the government Ministry of Home Affairs, Sec. 111 Organised Crime, Sec. 112 Petty Organised Crime and Sec.113 Terrorist Act were newly introduced by New Criminal Laws.

Now Magistrates are empowered to take cognizance based on digital or videographic evidence. Further Bail has been defined. Further Sec. 43(3) of BNSS defines when a person can be handcuffed. The CrPC empowers the state governments to notify any city or town with a population of more than one million as a metropolitan area (Section 8 of Cr. P.C.). Such areas have Metropolitan Magistrates (Section 16 Cr.P.C.). The BNSS removes the classification of Metropolitan Areas and Metropolitan Magistrates. The BNSS now provides that the Magistrate may, after giving the accused a reasonable opportunity of being heard, for reasons to be recorded in writing, try in a summary way, all or any of the offences not punishable with death or imprisonment for life or imprisonment for a term exceeding 3 years, provided that no appeal shall lie against any such decision of a Magistrate (Section 283).

Further how the interpretation of statutes is done was explained by Adv. Tapan Thatte and how to look for citations and precedents and mischief rule of legislation. The mischief rule is a rule of interpretation that helps judges understand the purpose of law and interpret it to address the problem it was intended to solve. It's one of three rules of statutory interpretation, along with the plain meaning rule and the golden rule. The term has been derived from the Latin term 'interpretari', which means to explain, expound, understand, or translate. Interpretation is the process of explaining, expounding and translating any text or anything in written form.

The National Symposium had many outcomes. The students gave huge responses, and the question/answer session was also very effective. With the help of feedback given by the participating students, it can be concluded that the objectives of organising the National Symposium were fulfilled. The students were happy with the arrangements and structure of the sessions. They found the sessions informative, adding to their existing knowledge. As per the feedback, the National Symposium has created awareness amongst them which was the main objetives behind organising the Symposium.
